Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-8 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Benson (EP 0,936,530).

Benson teaches:

An on-line purchase and load, OPAL, server for performing a transaction over a network using a virtual smart card (6), said OPAL server comprising:

a virtual smart card database (VSC server 8; paragraph [0034]) having a plurality of records, each record including a virtual card identifier and a balance corresponding to a single virtual smart card (abstract);

a hardware security module (paragraph [0066-0071];

a smart card emulator that receives smart card commands and processes said commands in conjunction with said virtual smart card database and said hardware security module (figs. 1 & 15);

a pseudo card reader module that receives said smart card commands and relays said commands to said smart card emulator, whereby said OPAL server performs a transaction over said network using one of said records in said virtual smart card database [0087-0108];

a user verification module that verifies a user accessing said OPAL server and generates a user identifier, said user identifier being suitable to identify one of said virtual smart card records in said card database (figs.8-15);and wherein said smart card emulator and said pseudo card reader module are implemented as a single software module (claim 1 or 10).

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 2/13/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to applicant's argument that Benson reference does not teach "a balance corresponding to a virtual smart card". In contrary, the balance that corresponds to the virtual smart card is located in the virtual smart card (VSC-8) server, in any financial transaction systems, smart cards which are used for payment purposes, typically subtract the amount of the payment from the internally held balance before giving out the cryptographic proof to the terminal that the payment has been made. It is inherent that all smart card systems, including Benson, must include a balance corresponding to the virtual smart card.

With respect to applicant's argument that Benson reference does not teach "a database that contain the balance record". In contrary, in smart card technology, it is inherent that the smart card server systems must contain a database to facilitate various information exchange function. Benson discloses a virtual smart card to emulate a real smart card by providing an identical interface and service.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit; 3628

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
